

Before solving a problem it is always good to write down the solution!

$u(x, t) = \sin(ct + x)$ is a solution to

$$u_{tt} = c^2 u_{xx} \quad (\text{Check it!}).$$

Select the initial data and boundary-conditions to fit with this.

(We will consider a more general approach later)